Professional examinations

Series 65, Uniform Investment Adviser Law Examination (2021). The Series 65 is administered by FINRA on behalf of the North American Securities Administrators Association (NASAA). Passing it qualifies an individual to act as an investment adviser representative in most states. It covers economic factors, investment vehicles, client investment strategies, and laws, regulations and ethics, including fiduciary obligations. There are no prerequisites to take the exam.

Item 3: Disciplinary Information

Chukwudi I. Uraih has no reportable disciplinary history. He has not been involved in any criminal or civil action, administrative proceeding before the SEC or any state or federal regulator, or self-regulatory organization proceeding.

Item 4: Other Business Activities

Chukwudi I. Uraih is engaged in the following other business activities:

- Insurance license. He holds a Texas life, accident and health insurance license. He uses it only to review and explain clients' existing and proposed insurance coverage. He does not sell insurance, is not appointed with any insurance company, and receives no commissions or other compensation from insurance companies.
- Lampados Realty Group TX. He owns and manages short-term rental real estate in Texas and Washington, DC, through Lampados Realty Group TX. He spends no more than 10 hours per week (about 40 hours per month) on this activity, mostly outside business hours. It is not an investment offering, and Lampados clients are not solicited to invest in it.
- Tax return preparation. He prepares a limited number of tax returns for compensation under his IRS Preparer Tax Identification Number, including for some advisory clients. This service is billed separately, is not marketed, and clients are never required to use it. He spends no more than 10 hours per month on it, mostly during tax season.
- Author, podcast host and speaker. He is the author of The First-Gen Path to Wealth, hosts The Financial Engineer Podcast, and speaks to professional and community groups. Book royalties and speaking fees are paid to Lampados and are not tied to any advisory client or product. He spends no more than 20 hours per month on these activities.
- Inactive ventures. He founded BinBoss Technologies LLC (a service business for rental property operators), Chudi AI Systems (AI automation consulting), and Project Anioma (a proposed solar energy venture in Nigeria). All three are currently inactive: he spends no time on them and earns no income from them. Project Anioma has never accepted capital from investors, and Lampados clients will not be solicited to invest in it. If any of these ventures becomes active, this supplement will be amended promptly.

None of these activities involves the sale of securities or insurance products to Lampados clients.

Item 5: Additional Compensation

Chukwudi I. Uraih does not receive any economic benefit, including sales awards or other prizes, from any person other than Lampados clients for providing advisory services.

Item 6: Supervision

Chukwudi I. Uraih is the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Compliance Officer of Lampados and its only investment adviser representative. He supervises his own advisory activities under the firm's written policies and procedures and Code of Ethics. He can be reached at (877) 558-8037.

Item 7: Requirements for State-Registered Advisers

Chukwudi I. Uraih has not been the subject of an arbitration award or found liable in a civil, self-regulatory organization or administrative proceeding involving an investment-related matter, fraud, theft, embezzlement, bribery, forgery, extortion or other dishonest conduct. He has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition.
